The valuable property advertised for sale in this city by E. O. Macy, FEW OF THOSE SMALL N. day the 13th inst., instead of the day the 13th inst., instead of the MOVEMENTS OF COTTON IN RAL-

MANUFACTORY.-We paid a brief visit to this establishment yesterday. principally with a view of seeing two boilers just finished by the firm for the enterprising Blackwell & Co., of Durham. We suppose these boilers are the largest ever made in North Carolina, being 14 feet long and 54 inches in diameter. They are made of the best Pennsylvania charcoal hammered iron, and are very fine specimens of workmanship, seeming mightest efforts of the tremendous force they generate. McCallum and Wyckoff manufacture steam engines complete. Their works are run by one of their own engines, a very beautiful piece of work. It is an upright engine of 12 horse power, and compares favorably within we have seen elsewhere.

A walk through the establishment showed us many articles for agricultural use for which the firm is finding a ready sale. Cotton gins, of superior design, cotton presses of great power and yet of great simplicity of plan, ploughs (in the making of which the firm is about to enter largely, and with the most approved patterns,) together with other implements in general use. The house bids fair to become one of the institutions of the city, and the energy, skill and high character of the gentlemen composing the firm will entitle them to the high position they seem determined to take.

FOOD FOR THE HUNGRY .- Is there anything more necessary, more absolutely indispensable, than eating? We agree with a writer in a recent publication "that a hungry stomach is, indeed, most inexorable and clamorous for food and is not to be put off or defrauded of its just claims. Some persons are said to live to eat, while others eat to live; but however this may be, one thing is certain, all must eat, and this being so, it is our duty to provide our stores with the best food possible. We were led to these reflections by a walk through the grain and feed establishment of Job Osborne, Esq., near the N. C. R. R. depot. There can be found " food for man and beast," in great variety and in endless quantity, and of quality and prices to suit all. Mr. Osborn is the pioneer in the grain and feed business in this city, having established his store in 1872, and by his honesty and strict integrity has won the confidence and esteem of all our citizens. His measures are just, his word as good as his oath, and we know of no one we would sooner recommend to the favor of our people than Job Os-

DEATH OF AN ESTIMABLE LADY .-We are pained to announce the death in this city on yesterday of Miss Annie Lawrence, daughter of the late Capt. A. J. Lawrence Miss L. will be sadly missed by the large circle of friends to whom she had endeared herself by the practice of all those virtues which adorn the perfect woman. The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

CITY DEBT .- An adjourned meeting of the citizens of Raleigh will be held in Metropolitan Hall, next Wednesday evening, November 10th, at 7 o'clock, to receive the report of the joint committee, and take final action on the city debt question. Let every tax-payer be present. By order of the President.

NEW MASONIC WORK .- A volume entitled a "Masonic Code of North Carolina" has just been issued from the press of John Nichols & Co., of this city, and is now in the hands of the binder, who will have it ready for distribution in a few days. It was compiled by our esteemed townsman, D. W. Bain, secretary of the Grand Lodge, and is pronounced by those of the fraternity who saw the advance sheets, a work of great value to the order, and of interest to all who wish to familiarize them. selves with Masonic jurisprudence.

PREMIUMS OF THE LATE STATE FAIR.-We are informed by the Secretary that the Treasurer is now ready to pay all money premiums awarded at the Fifteenth Annual Exhibition which has just closed. Application for premiums will be made to the Secretary at this place. Parties desiring their premiums sent by mail will please enclose a stamp in the letter giving the order.

DEATH OF AN AGED CITIZEN .-Michael M. Pendergrast, one of the oldest citizens of Raleigh, died on Friday. He was born in Ireland in 1805, came to this country in 1828 and worked at his trade as a carpenter in New York. In 1838 he came to Raleigh, where he has since resided.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE.-This body holds its annual session in our city Dec. 5. It meets in the new Masonic hall in the Fisher building which is being fitted up in a style commensurate with the dignity and importance of the order for whose use it is intended.

Our thanks are due to Col. T. B. Long, Special Agent of the Postoffice department, for a copy of the 'United States official Postal Guide,' containing an alphabetical list of the Postoffices in the United States. besides a vast amount of other valuable information.

"THE TWO ORPHANS."-The Hall Combination Company will perform at Tucker Hall on Monday night. This company comes into our midst with the highest commendation of the press. The Richmond Enquirer of Friday, which paper is not given to fulsome flattery, has this to say of its performance in that city: "Notwithstanding the magnificent houses which greeted Mrs. Oates during her stay in our city, the Opera House was again crowded to repletion last evening by a splendid audience who were present to witness the justly celebrated and thrilling drama of "The Two Orphans," and they were well repaid, for seldom have we witnessed a performance which elicited so much genuine appreciation than was evinced last evening during every act of the play. The drama is intensely interesting; full of startling 10,673 denouments that irresistibly excite the interest of the spectators from first to last to the highest pitch, while the acting by all the company aided greatly in producing this effect.

"The sympathies are aroused at the sufferings and trials of the orphans and general satisfaction in the shape of enthusiastic applause greet their release from the perils which have surrounded them. Miss Emma Pierce as Henriette and Miss Ada Gilman as ouise, "The Two Or-phacs," admirably sustained their parts. The acting of Mr. James, as Armand Chevalier de Vaudrey, was superb, and Mr. Lee, as Pierre, the crippled knife grinder, through all the play, was excellent, and in the seventh act he carried away the house. Mrs. Rogers, as La Frochard, was so real as to be almost painful. The character of Jacques by Mr. E. B. Holmes was acted to the life. Miss Minnie Monk as the Marchioness Mr. Sands as Count de Mailly, and Mr. Whiffin as Picard, were all good, We cannot forbear to mention Miss Agnes Proctor, who, in her character of Mariana, won many encomiums."

CAPT. W. F. AVERY .- This gentleman, late associate editor of the Charlotte Observer, was in our office on Friday en route to Johnston county. The Observer says of him:

"Capt. Avery left the city last night, and for the next week will be at Princeton, Johnston county. The people of Charlotte and the readers of the Observer everywhere, regret sincerely that he had abandoned the position which he has filled so ably and acceptably for the past ter months; but no one, perhaps, feels deeper regret upon the occasion of this parting than the writer of this paragraph. The friendship between us is by no means a new thing; it covers a much longer period than the few brief months during which we have been employed upon the same journal; but the very intimate relations which have existed between us during that period have caused this friendship to ripen into an attachment which will never be severed this side of the grave. Our company with our late confrere, we do so with a feeling of peculiars ad ness a feeling which the outsider can hardly appreciate. "It must be a source of great satisfaction to Capt. Avery to know how general is the regret entertained in consequence of the severance of his connection with this paper. Both in his editorial and personal capacities here he has made hundreds of friends and we do not hesitate to say that all of those who have been readers of the Observer during the present year, will join us most heartily in wishing for him wherever his lot may be cast or whatever his occupation may be, the greatest measure of prosperity.

THE GRAND TEMPERANCE RAL-LY .- Quite a large number of the citizens of Raleigh met at the Mayor's office last evening and reorganized the old Raleigh Council of the Friends of Temperance. The enthusiasm that prevailed was unbounded. and we were glad to see a determined spirit on the part of some of the best citizens of Raleigh to push forward this honorable order to its former prosperity in the city. The Council was organized by the election of the following officers: Rev. L. S. Burkhead, D. D., Pres-

A gentleman of Norfolk, Va. who had been tortured for some time with neuralgia, hearing of a noted physician in Germany who invariably cured that disease, visited him for treatment. He was permanently cured after a short sojourn, and the doctor freely gave him the simple remedy he had used, which was nothing but a poultice of tea made from our common field thistle. The leaves are macerated and used on the parts effected as a poultice, while a small quantity of the leaves are boiled down in the proportion of a quart to a pint, and a small wine glass of the decoction drank before each meal. Proper Food and Care for Milch Cows.

ordinary dry fodder; and the cow cannot create milk; she can only combine and bring together in the form of milk, such of its elements as you provide for her. To expect any-thing more would be as unreasonable as the miller who put no wheat in his hopper and looked for fine flour at the tail of his mill. It should be understood that the cow cannot make something out of nothing. She manufactures milk from materials you give her for that purpose, just as the carpenter builds you a house from the materials you supply him with.
If you supply bad materials he cannot build such a house as you desire If you supply a cow with poor and scanty food, she may give you aside from quality, more milk than you desire, more than is for your interest; because in that case, the milk comes loser by her constant diminution in value. A wise farmer wishes every animal to increase its value. Milch cows should be fed often. for cold weather, but so constructed

From the World's Dispensary Printing Office and Bindery, Buffalo, V We have received "The Peo-N. Y., we have received "The ple's Common Sense Medical vieer, in plain English; or, Medical Simplified," by R. V. Pierce, M. D. Counselor-in-chief of the Board of Physicians and Surgeons at the World's Dispensary. Whoever helps humanity in its struggles with its inherent weakness and diseases, to bear or cure, is its benefactor. Ignorance is not only of itself a cause of disease and mortality, but it is the enemy of every effort to cure or miti-gate. Nothing will so speedily re-move this cause as knowledge, (an el-ementary at least) of the disease to which we are heir, as well as those superinduced by our own impru-dence. Dr. Pierce has rendered, in our judgement, a benefactor's service, both to the afflicted and to the protreated of, and in the presentations of the philosophic principles involved in their cause and removal. He is sparing of remedies, and usually pre-scribes such as are safe in unskilled hands. A a book merely of abstract knowledge, it is exceedingly readabl and interesting, especially the follow-ing subjects: - Cerebral, Physiology, Human Temperaments, Ps giene, the Nursing of the Sick, Sleep, Food, Ventilation, etc. In one chap-ter on another subject, so delicate in its nature that it is shut up beyond the domain of warning to all but physicians, so accursed in its results in modern society, he is most explict, and alike true to God, to virtue, to life, and to society, shows the truth as presented in the teachings of pture,-that life begins with con-

Their eradication, however, becomes a matter of certainty when Hostotter's Stomach Bitters are systematically used for that purpose. The Bitters likewise annihitate and prevent fover and gue and other debilitating febrile complaints of a melarial nature.

If you expect your cows to yield If you expect your cows to yield milk liberally you must feed them on something better adapted to the secretion of rich milk than such dry fare as might possibly keep non producing animals alive. You must feed them on something they like, and will eat heartily. Of the elements of rich milk there is little in ordinary dry folder: and the cow cause, in that case, the milk comes not from the food you give, but from her own body, so that in the end you will either lose your cow, or will be a should be given at the time they have been taught to expect it, as otherwise they will make themselves uneasy, and their milk may not come down freely at the next milking. Cows will pay well for the trouble, if curried every day. Their bedding should be attended to, and kept dry sleep, the less food they consume, and that too without making it up at their next meal. Roots finely cut and mixed with cut straw, with a little hot water poured over them, and then left to stand awhile, with occasional stirring, make a mess of which cows are fond, and will consume voracious-ly, and then yield milk accordingly. When the milk is to be used for butter making, corn meal is better than lighter feed, for although it fails to cause a great flow of milk, it renders milk exceedingly rich in butter matter material.-John A. #### GOV. CHAMBERLAIN.

If this functionary in former time has acted like a thief, he now talks like an honest man; if he has ruled like a despot, he now expresses a very clear view of constitutional limitations and the true functions of government. Reading his speech without reference to the speaker, the reader will be struck with the sound | home. doctrine conveyed in the following extract: "He declared that he holds his office as a public trust, and said : "The only just basis for a political party is a certain view of the manner in which the powers of the Government should be exercised, the principles and methods by which public affairs should be conducted. It is not power or office merely which a party should seek, but power and office must be sought as the means and opportunity of increasing the purity, the effici-ency, the beneficence of the Government. Holding such views, I conceive that the just bounds of party obligation are greatly transcended whenever public office is used to promote personal or party ends, to neglect of the best interests of the whole people."

NEW JERSEY.

Much surprise was felt that this State, bitherto so staunch to the Democracy should have gone so strongly the other way. It now appears that neither the currency question nor national politics entered into the controversy. It was a religious sene which was brought to bear against the Democrats. As a party, the Democrats last winter supported what is known as the Catholic protectory bill, and it has been remembered against them with vindictive bitterness, A Methodist clergyman. Mr. Kirk, was the special champion of the measure in the House. Scarcely a supporter of the measure was re-elected. And so it went through the State, the protectory bill being the slogan. This bill was a measure to regulate the admission of orphan children into charitable institutions.

THE Salisbury Watchman does not at all meet the question raised by the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court in regard the the effect of the usury law upon the National Banks. The Watchman contents itself with the assumption that the National Banks are all rotten concerns, and therefore unsafe. As we have before said we do not admire the system, and will not defend it; nevertheless, it is all we have. And in this State, there has been no pretense that outside of the high rates of interest, the managers of the National Banks have ever done any thing to impair public confidence. That excessive rate of interest. the last Legislature sought to restrain by the passage of the usury law. In this they failed, and now the National Banks have the field open to them. The Watchman says truly, "that the decision only allows the monopoly the people see proper to give them." But will not the people give them this monopoly? The law of last winter was intended to protect borrowers as well as lenders. So long as there was a way to obtain money, men would have it at any price. And so it will be with the recognized privileges of the National Banks. If they can lend with only the rise of a suit by the borrower for an excess of interest, they will find as many borrowers as they can accommodate. The National Banks will do ail the business now done by individuals and private institutions. And this virtually repeals all usury laws, or if it does not, it leaves on the statute books a most unjust and oppressive discrimination against one class, and leaves the other at full liberty to charge any rate of interest agreed upon.

We were opposed to the usury law at the time of its passage, because we thought it inopportune and because its operations were to be immediate. Since its passage we have had nothing to say about it, leaving it to work its own way. But we are much mistaken if the people themselves will not now demand its repeal, seeing that it is operative only on one class, whilst the general government gives its protection to much the most powerful money influence in the State. Equality before the law will be the

WE think the papers of the State will be doing good and patriotic service by using their columns freely to give information in regard to the climate, soil and resources of North Carolina. The Legislature has never yet been induced to lend its aid for the diffusion of intelligence. Yet it lawed to exceed their space, or advertise is needed, and upon the press devolves the duty. There is a great. thus for information. We have seen frequent letters of inquiry, and it is amazing to see the degree of ignorance that prevails respecting North Carolina. These inquiries must be answered. There is a restless spirit at the North and in Canada. Tired of their blesk climate, long winters and overcrowded population, they are constantly on the lookout for new homes with a milder climate and more elbow room. The foreign emigrant too finds less favor than formerly. The best government lands are taken up, and either occupied or in the hands of speculators.

The great bug-bear to both the Northern settler and the foreign immigrant in connection with the South is removed. Slavery no longer exists. And another apprehension is removed. Northern men find that their lives are as safe, and their presence as welcome as at

A PRETTY KETTLE OF FISH.

Yesterday's telegrams inform us hat indictments had been found in St. Louis against two ex-United States District Attorneys, an ex-U. S. Marshall, and Orville Grant, brother of the President, and General Babcock, his Private Secretary, all for conspiracy to cheat the government in the matter of whiskey revenue. The old adage of "honor among thieves" failed this time. Fitzroy, a Deputy U. S. Revenue Collector, had been indicted on the same charges, and not wishing to bear a vicarious punishment, he made a clean breast and exposed all his accomplices. The most serious charge against Every body around him has grown rich by the abuse of position through purchased immunity. But the limits of credulity are passed when it is found that the President's own brother and his Private Secretary are engaged in what is described as the most gigantic scheme yet devised to cheat the government. It will be a difficult matter to shield the President himself from complicity in the transactions. He has shown himself too ready to defend, sustain and promote such creatures as Boss Shepherd and Delano, whose frauds and stealings were patent to the world, to find acquittal in the ignorance of the schemes in which his brother and Private Secretary were engaged. He must have been cognizant of their action. It is impossible to feign ignorance. What spectacle! A President of the

BOTH APPARENTLY LIFELESS, lying on the floor, each grasping firmly in his right hand a Colt's revolver. The officers at once began to examine the bodies. One was that of a man about forty-three years of age, and five feet six inches in height, quite well dressed in Cark clothes. This man had fallen with his knees This man had latten with this affects against the door opening on the hall, and was bleeding profusely from a terrible pistol shot wound in his right temple, the blood completely covering his face and head. He was insensible but not dead. The pistol clasped in his right hand was found to have been discharged four times. It was subsequently ascertained that his name was Moses Piskiel. The other man, Joseph Goldman, who appeared to be somewhat younger and smaller than Piskiel, was lying on his back in front of the stove, not six feet from Piskiel, dead, though his body was still warm. Two frightful wounds were seen on his head, one over the right temple and one in his cheek. His head was almost

It was with difficulty that the pistol was released from his death grip, and when it was ex-amined it was found to have been amined it was found to have been fired five times. There was so much blood on the floor, which was bare, that it began to soak through, and soon became visible on the ceiling of the room beneath.

THE EFFECTS OF REPUBLICAN station house where he was examined and pronounced mortally wounded by Surgeon Ensign. He was then re-placed in the ambulance which star-ted for Bellevue Hospital, but the unfortunate man died before he reached the hospital. The Republican papers from one end of the country ring with the shouts of victory, and it might be supposed that the country had been saved from some imminent danger, and that principles worth fighting for had been re-established. We admit the victory, but do not accept the consequences. These only tend to fix upon the country for a yet longer period that system of profligate extravagance and disgraceful corruption which runs from the White House down to the lowest stratum of the party.

VICTORIES.

The Republicans at the North satisfy themselves that they have defeated the inflationists, and saved the country from the curse of dishonest money, as if paper money was not the gift of the Republican party. But we must look a little farther for the effects.

Calm and temperate judges at the North draw no inferences from the success of the Republican party favorable to the best interests of the country. In the first place the friends of Grant, Grant himself, take fresh courage from the result as an endorsement of his administration and his pretensions, and all the turmoil of the third term agitation will vex the country again. And again it is a new license to all the worst features of radicalism, dishonesty and extravagance against which there was such tremendous resistance in New York and Pennsylvania, but all in vain. Now this is the effect predicted, and most certainly produced in Pennsylvania: "It will unfortunately give a new lease of power to the whole brood of corruptionists and thieves in the city and State that find shelter under the wings of the Republican party. It will also encourage the bad elements that surround the National Administration, and aid them in obtaining control of the Presidential Conventrating all parts of the State, and tion next year." That is what the Republican victory in the Legislature amounts to." The Tribune is not a Democratic paper, and we may accept its criticsm as a candid condemnation of its own party.

The Democrats have at least this consolation, that in the late contest they represented the honesty of the country. It was a square issue, accepted by the opposition. Money and corruption carried the day. But this is an issue upon which, for self preservation, the whole country will be compelled to stand, and the Democrats have taken the vantage

[From the New York Herald.

About four o'clock yesterday after ioon some inmates of the tenement house No. 106 Delancey street heard several pistol shots and a noise which they guessed to be that of a scuffle be-tween two men, in the back room on the top floor of the house, and at once sent word to the Tenth precinct station house, in Eldridge street, of the occurrence. Officers Henken and Hughes were despatched to the house, and proceeding up four flights of stairs, they attempted to open the door of the back room. They found it locked, however, and Officer Hen-ken applied his shoulder to it without effecting his purpose. He procured a hatchet, and by a powerful blow forced it open a little way, but it immediately closed again, as though something were leaning against it. He again put his shoulder to it, and, He again put his shoulder to it, and, at last, succeeded in opening it, pushing with it, as he did so, some heavy obstacle. Upon stepping into the room a ghastly spectacle met his view. There he beheld two men,

A Herald reporter inquired into the facts of the case last night and ascertained the following facts:—Moses Piskiel of No. 49 Essex street and Joseph Goldman of No. 100 Hester treet, both Jews were partners in s jewelry business at No. 59 East Broad way. On Monday night Goldman met a friend named Daniel Pearlson iso a Jew at the Atlantic Carden in the Bowery and told the latter that if he did not object he (Goldman) would like to sleep at his friend's house that night. Pearlson agreed, and together they went to No. 106 Delancey street where Pearlson resided. In the morning the host was required to leave the house early, so gave the key of the room in charge of his guest. Some time af-ter Goldman went to his house in Hester street, where another Jew friend named Kirshtein gave him a lady's gold watch and chain to be repaired. After that time nothing could be ascertained in regard to his whereabouts until he was found dead by Officer Hughes, at which time the chain, $54.00 in carrrency and some private papers were on his person. Both pistols were seven-barrelled and new. The whole affair is as yet

SHROUDED IN MYSTERY, what terms with each other the men had been fiving, nor could it be as-certained positively how Piskiel happened to be at No. 106 Delancey street. Officer Hughes stated to the Herald reporter that an old woman of the neighborhood told him that she saw Goldman send a little boy after Piskiel. From the surrounding circumstances, however, it seems safe to assume that the two men met by arrangement to fight a duel, with the doubly fatal event above detailed.

to Policy-holders during 1874, Average per cent sur-plus returned to pol-icy-holders in 1874, 40,44 per cel

This percentage of surplus refinute greater than that of any of pany, and more than twice that leading ones. It is the legitimal evitable result of care in the serisks and high rate of interest from well-invested assets. As a cost of the insurance to the pois regulated, not by the table rabbut by the amount the Company save and return to him from the paid this latter item is of the graphortance. Manifestly the compains able to return to its policy-inmost surplus premiums, furnis surance at the lowest cost. An history of its policies shows the cut mutual is actually doing.

Virgin, pastor of the Congregational church of Harlem, N. Y. Probably nothing will be done for a week or two. The committee which was appointed last Wednesday have held no formal meeting, nor have they yet arrived at a decision regarding the method of procedure in the investigation. The resolution under which they act directs them to review all the evidence apparent and attainable respecting the matters which brought Mr. Beecher before the courts and to report to the association their finding, coupled with advice as to whether the accused gentleman should be retained in or be expelled from the that the ministerial association has no jurisdiction over the churches as corporate bodies; it concerns itself only with the personal character of their pasters or such of them that is ong to the N. Y. and Brooklyn Association. Should the result. of the deliberations of the committee be a recommendation that Beecher be expelled the adoption of such res-olution would not directly affect that gentleman's relations to Plymouth church. It would simply be a verdict of moral condemnation by his limited to any set period for its work, and will take all the time necessary to go to the bottom of this complica

Joseph Guibord, Printer. Few men in the world's long history have ever achieved so wide a posthumous fame without striving for it while they lived as has fallen to the lot of Joseph Guibord, he whose burial has engaged the attention of Queen Victoria's privy council, has drawn forth an anathema from a bishop, has converted a cemetary into a garrison, and is a theme of endless discussion in ecclesiastical and secular circles. The man whose remains have raised such a coil as Joseph Guibord, printer, of Montreal, who died in November, 1869, aged sixty-two years. For thirty-six consecutive years Guibord was in the association. It must be understood employ of Louis Perrault & Sons, and for twenty years of this long period he filled the place of foreman. He a printer of intelligence and ingenuity. When the catechisms and hymns for the use of the Indians in the northwes tern regions of Canada were prepared for the press Guibord was cons ted as to the best methods for putting the Indian dialects into type and o making the novel matrices. Altongues, Guibord understood the labor of putting the-to him-meaningless writing into type; and so well did he succeed in the difficult undertaking that for ten years he furnished the Roman Catholic mis sions in Northwestern Canada with all the catechisms and hymn books needed for the Indians. Mr. Gui-bord likewise supervised all the printing for the palace of the bishop of Montreal, and for twenty years he personally superintended the com-position and printing of the bishop's pastoral letters. Guibord,s post-mortem troubles arose from his refusal, at the request of his bishop, to withdraw from literary association, the "Institut Canadien," which had in its library certain books, reading of which was forbidden to the Catholics by author ity of the Pope. Guibord appealed to Rome; before an answer came he died, and his remains were refused interment in the Roman Catholic cemetary of Montreal. Deceased had premonition of the troubles his corpse was to cause. A short time previous to his demise, in conversa-tion with a friend on his appeal to Rome, he said, "I feel that I am going fast, and if this matter is not settled before I die there will be a row (tapage) about my grave." the civilized world is watching the row with interest, very few knowing who or what Joseph Guibord was. Fire in the Richmond Theatre. The Richmond (Va.) Enquirer says that on Saturday evening, just before the closing scene in the last act and during the duet between Mme. L'Ange and Ange Pitou, the scenery of the theatre in that city caught fire from one of the Chinese lanterns suspended over the entrance to the "Calypso ball-room." In a moment the theatre was in a ferment; one or two ladies in the dress-circle fainted, while the parquet was in an uproar. Many rushed forward toward the stage, while others made remarkably quick time for the doors, some of which were locked. The scenery had egun to blaze briskly in full view of the audience, when some one in the parquet cried out, "Pull it down!" This suggestion was promptly acted on. The burning scenery was torn down and fell across the stage, and the fire was soon stamped out, but it was a very parlow escape, and in a minute more the theatre must have been doomed to destruction. The audience were greatly agitated, especially the ladies, and had the theatre been crowded, as on previous nights of the week, there is no estimating the casualties that must have resulted from the fearful panic that would have followed the first alarm.

OF PHILADELPHIA.

This Company is purely mutual. No stockholders to absorb profits. Every jolicy holder is a member of the Company, entitled to all its advantages and privileges, having a vote at the annual election for Trustees. It is the easiest Company to work because it gives a tisfaction to its patrons, for the reason that it has declared MORE DIVIDENDS IN NUMBER and of a LARGEHAVERAGE PERCENTAGE thus any Company in the United States. Official reports show this. For example: Policy 16, for $5,000, has been paid to the widow of a Philiadelphia merchant, upon which twenty-three dividends had been declared, averaging (57) ffty-sevep per cent. This Policy, at the end of 23 ys., s, had the dividends been used to purchase additional insurance, would have been worth $11,046. Any reliable agent who wants to work for this Company will address
